- NAIT Career Services
  - ➢ Career Connect (nait.ca/careerconnect) job listings, employer sessions & networking opportunities
  - ➢ NAIT Hub networking & mentorship platform (nait.ca/alumni/ways-to-get-involved/student-mentorship)
  - ➢ Newsletter, workshops and 1:1 appointment with a career advisor (nait.ca/careersupport)
- Network, network, network! 70% of jobs are filled by people who heard about them through their networks. Be aware of how you are marketing yourself (accomplishments/ personal brand).
  - ➢ Job fairs
  - ➢ Information & recruitment sessions
  - ➢ Classmates
  - ➢ Social gatherings (online counts too)
  - ➢ Family & friends, & of friends
  - ➢ Alumni
  - ➢ LinkedIn
  - ➢ Your church, synagogue, mosque, etc.
  - ➢ Community groups
  - o Neighbours
  - o Volunteering
    - -Naitsa.ca/volunteer
    - -www.volunterconnector.org
- Instructors: keep in touch with your program & teachers, ask them for recommendations around companies to check out and professionals to do informational interviews with, ask them to write a LinkedIn recommendation for you.
- LinkedIn: expand your network, invite professionals who work in a job/company you're interested in coffee chats and informational interviews.
- Mawji Centre: they host regular events with real business owners that talk about building a personal brand, self-employment, being a contractor and other entrepreneurship topics.
- NAITSA: clubs and job opportunities
- Industry / Professional Association Websites: for example, ASET for engineering technologists, AAA for architecture and interior design, etc.
- Employer of choice
  - ➢ Websites
  - ➢ Visit in person
  - ➢ Contact directly
  - ➢ Conduct informational interviews
- Job Search Engines
  - ➢ Alis.alberta.ca
  - ➢ Indeed.ca
  - ➢ Jobbank.gc.ca
  - ➢ Linkedin.com/jobs/
- Employment agencies / headhunters

How not to find a job:
- a. Rely on a single strategy.
- b. Get frustrated or take rejection (or lack of response) personally.
- c. Use the same resume.